CINCINNATI HORROR.

Two Buildings Blown to Atoms
By Gasoline.

SIX PERSONS INSTANTLY KILLED

Eighteen Others Injured, Several of Whom
May Die—Other Dead Bodies May Be Under the Debris—Five-Story Building
Completely Demolished—Names of the Dead and Injured So Far as Known.

CINCINNATI, May 5.—This city and vicinity was greatly excited last night over the explosion of a large tank of gasoline which completely demolished the 5-story building, 430 and 432 Walnut street, at 8 o'clock last night. After the explosion the wildest reports were current as to the loss of life. Before midnight it was known that six were killed and 18 injured, but the work of removing the debris had proceeded so slowly that the general estimate of the killed and wounded greatly exceeded this number.

The explosion did not carry the debris any distance from the building or even obstruct the street in front of it. The building seemed to collapse so that the pile of debris was covered by the tin roof and after working several hours it was found that the only way to rescue the victims was to remove the immense mass of brick and timber. Accordingly workmen were put at it, as many of them as could work on it. The debris was being shoveled by one force out into the street and into the rear alley and all available teams were secured for another force of men to load it up and get it out of the way of the rescuing party who were working on the immense pile of ruins. This was found to be the only practical means of reaching those who were on the lower floor.

All those who have been rescued had been on the upper floors except some who were thrown out into the street. While this work was going on holes were cut through the foundations of adjacent buildings, and debris was taken out and three lives were saved by persons being rescued in that manner.

The family of Adolph Drach suffered most completely. Drach and his wife are numbered among the dead, his 5-year-old daughter is dead, and his 3-year-old boy is believed to be dying. Noland Davit, a traveling man for the Columbia Carriage company of Hamilton, O., and two others, unidentified, complete the list of those known to be dead.

Among the missing who are believed to be in the ruins are:

R. A. Fricke of Norwood.
Joseph Worthner, barkeeper.
Louis Fey, wife and baby, also two servant girls in the families of Fey and Drach.

Among the injured were:

■ Sid Johnson, barkeeper for Louis Fey, arm broken.

Billy Cook, waterworks employee, arm broken.

Barbara Huttleton, leg broken.

Joseph Memmel, not serious.

Harry Harwick, waterworks employee, cut on the head.

Fred Healy, arm and shoulder injured.

Joseph Sprague, porter.

Motorman Stoffel.

Conductor Folliard.

— Fisher.

— Huron.

William Lauth.

William Loheide.

H. E. Hunwick, bookkeeper.

S. S. Wells, clerk.

W. D. Crosdye, paper hanger.

Willard E. Cook, clerk.

J. D. Ward, race horse man of Toledo, O.

The shock was so terrific that it was felt all over the city and not one brick upon another is left in the front and rear walls of the building, while the adjacent buildings are badly damaged and the glass in the windows in the Gibson House and the large Johnson building across the street were all broken. The glass was broken out of streetcars that were passing at the time and one of the cars was badly wrecked, but none of the passengers were seriously hurt. All the horses in the immediate neighborhood broke from their fastenings and ran away, and there was not only intense excitement, but also the greatest confusion.

The explosion took place four doors from the intersection from Fifth and Walnut streets where the postoffice is located on one side and Fountain Square on the other. No part of the city is crowded more at that time of the evening and there were soon many thousands of people about Fountain Square and the space around the government building while Walnut street was completely blockaded. There were at first reports about fireworks being stored in the building and also about dynamite and ammunition so that there were several stampedes in the immense crowds on the reports about other explosions being likely to follow. Several people were slightly hurt in these stampedes.

The ground floor of 432 Walnut street was occupied by Adolph C. Drach for a saloon. He owned that part of the building and the other part was owned by M. Goldsmith. The first floor of this building at 430 Walnut street was also occupied by a saloon, run by Louis Fey. The upper floors of the 5-story building were occupied as flats. It is not known how many people were in the flats or how many were in the saloons but none escaped injury as the building immediately collapsed. There was no fire to consume the debris and make certain death of all in the building but the dust and dirt continued dying for a long time so densely that the work of rescuing the victims proceeded with great difficulty, although the police and fire departments rallied heroically to the work.

The excitement was the more intense because it could not be definitely learned for some time what caused the explosion. It was finally ascertained that the saloons in the building had put in their own electric plants for incandescent lights and had just secured a gasoline engine with which to run the dynamo. The plant got out of fix some way and there was a flash which communicated to the gasoline and caused the explosion. The sudden collapse of the large building smothered everything in the cellar so that there was no fire. The firemen were soon assisted by some expert engineers, who made openings through the basement walls of adjacent buildings and were recovering some of the victims in that manner. The debris seemed to all fall into one heap and not scatter about the street, so that there was the greatest difficulty in recovering the dead bodies and rescuing the injured.

Mr. John J. James of the Salt Lake City Herald was just leaving the Gibson House at the time of the explosion and with his heavy grip, was blown into the doorway of an adjoining store. He was knocked senseless, but afterward recovered sufficiently to take the train for St. Louis on his way west.

Noland Davit a traveling man for the Columbia Carriage company of Hamilton, O., was walking along the street at the time of the explosion and blown under a street car and killed.

Herman Nolte, Jr., was standing by a barbershop pole in an adjoining building, when struck by some debris, and suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

There were many that suffered slight injuries who were taken to their homes and whose names can not be learned. Some of those who were in the saloons were thrown out on the sidewalk and suffered slight injuries. Among them was Mr. Healy of the Alms hotel. He was in Fey's place and reports about 18 or 20 in that resort when the building went down.

Mr. Drach being among the victims, it is probable that it will never be known how the explosion came about. He had just been down in the basement experimenting with the gasoline engine and had poured a barrel of gasoline into the tank. He had just secured a new engine from Lafayette, Ind., intending to start it last night for motive power in furnishing incandescent light.

READY TO HANG HOLMES.

The Multi-Murderer Has Less Than Two Days Yet to Live.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—H. H. Holmes, the convicted murderer, has now less than two days to live. Sheriff Clement says the execution will occur about 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. The sheriff asserts that there will be no sensational scene of the gallows. If Holmes has anything to say it must be said from his cell before the march to the scaffold. About 50 persons, including officials and newspaper men, will witness the hanging, although thousands are straining every nerve to be present, and as high as $300 has been offered for a single ticket.

The prophecy that Holmes would cheat the gallows by committing suicide has no promise of fulfillment. Strict watch is kept upon him, but he seems docile and resigned. Whether or not his apparent contrition is genuine and whether he will die a convert to the Roman Catholic faith is largely a matter of conjecture. Father Dailey, his spiritual adviser, believes the contrition is genuine. The priest will administer the last rites of the Catholic church shortly before the hanging. On Thursday morning mass will also be said for him in the Church of the Annunciation.

The scaffold is ready but will not be erected until Thursday morning. It will be placed in the center of the corridor on which the condemned man's cell faces, and as usual will be heavily draped in black.

Killed Her Children and Herself.

STURGEON BAY, Wis., May 5.—Mrs. F. X. Sailer, the wife of a business man, yesterday drowned her two children and then committed suicide by the same method. The woman had gone down the bay shore a distance of three miles from here and had evidently walked out into the bay with her children and held them under the water until life was extinct, after which she lay down and deliberately suffered herself to drown. Mrs. Sailer was about 25 years of age. The tragedy is supposed to be the result of domestic unhappiness.

PITTSBURG, May 5.—J. L. Cowan, the absconding young lumber dealer who was recently arrested in Central America, was brought back to this city last night in charge of detectives and is now in jail. His friends expect to have him released soon on bail. Cowan has made a full confession, in which he declares that he did not profit at all by his crookedness. He implicates a number of people whose names are kept secret until action can be taken against them.

CROOKED EVIDENCE.

A Bombshell in the Pearl Ery.
an Murder Mystery.

THAT PROMISED SENSATION.

A Would-Be Detective Shown Up in a Very Bad Light — The Defense's Witnesses Used to Further the Cause of the Prosecution—Some Depositions Read in Behalf of the Defense.

CINCINNATI, May 5.—The defense in the Scott Jackson murder trial yesterday brought out the story that has so long been held in the background. The following is the claim that the defense has set up: That Pearl Bryan died in the rooms of an aged German couple named Stoker at 53 George street, midway between Plum and Elm streets; that the Greencastle girl went directly to this back room after she left the Indiana House, and there died on Friday night while in the hands of Ann Baker, a midwife. Such is the story, of which William R. Truste's testimony is a part.

Before Truste was placed on the witness stand Colonel Crawford said: "I desire to say that counsel for Walling and myself have paid the expenses of this witness while here and from another state."

Mr. Truste then said: "I live near Champaign, Ills. I lived in Kentucky before that. I am a railroad man. I am now in a tile factory at Urbana, Ills. I have been a brakeman on the Cincinnati Southern. I was a farmer before I was a railroad man. I am single. I have a father, brother and sister. My family lives at Urbana, Ills. I was in Cincinnati looking for a job. I was here on Friday Jan. 31."

Colonel Crawford—Did you have anything to do with a dead person that day?

"Yes sir."

Continuing, the witness said: "I got here in the morning. I met a girl I know, and we walked up Sixth street to Plum. She was to meet me after dark that night. I went back there and met her. She seemed to be scared and excited when she came up to me. I talked to her a minute, and we walked to the corner of George street. Then I got on a cab and drove off. Before that, as I walked up George street, a woman was ahead of us. While we were standing there talking a cab drove up. It had glass doors and an iron-gray horse drawing it. The man that drove the cab was a big man, and had on a silk hat. He got off the cab and went into a house with a woman. She waited outside. Pretty soon two men came out, carrying a woman between them. One had her feet, the other held her round the arms. The other woman walked alongside. She carried a hat in her hands.

"I opened the door of the cab and helped them to put her in the cab. I had hold of her hand, and it felt cold. I did see her face. Her mouth was open and her eyes rolled back in her head. I am sure she was dead. I got on the cab and drove it off. I drove over the Newport bridge. I had been directed which way to go. The man gave me a bridge pass. I drove two blocks from the end of the bridge; then a man who had been waiting got on the cab and drove with us. He had a little doctor's case in his hand. I drove away out in the country. When stopped I noticed a house on the right hand side. We drove on by that, then we stopped. The man paid me $10, and then he took the body out of the cab and took it over a fence that was there. I turned around and came back. I left the vehicle with the cab driver, who met me at the foot of the bridge."

"The man I met on the corner directed me how to drive. I was told where the body was taken out to bring the back back. When I got back I left it standing there. I walked across the bridge, and then I went to the Central street railroad station. I sat down in the restaurant. I don't know how long I staid there. I dozed off. When I woke up it was 6:30 o'clock. Then I went up to Ed Bradley's in Richmond street. I am Bradley's cousin. The Bradleys live in Ludlow now. They were in bed yet. They got up and let me in. Mrs. Bradley got breakfast for me. After breakfast I went back to the depot, and along in the morning I left the city for Indianapolis. There I looked for work. From there I went to Urbana, Ills. I did read about the finding of the body. I told my father the story as soon as I got home. I told Captain John Seward about it afterward. The woman I met on the evening of Friday, Jan. 31, is Georgie Baker. She is known here as Evans."

On cross-examination he said: "I came in on a freight train. The conductor's name is Charley Ayres. I don't know who the cabman was. I don't know who the people were that went out with me. I walked over the bridge coming back. I don't know what became of the 'doctor.' The last I saw of the doctor he was going over the fence. I came here this time on the second day of the month. I know George Dayton. I have not advised George Dayton what to testify to. I am a distant relative of John Seward. I am his third cousin. John Seward sent me a ticket to come here on April 23 he was a sick man, and evidently overdosed with the drug. He was not addicted to drink."

During one conversation in Indianapolis in which Wood made his boasts, Hunt said that Scott Jackson might have been present a short time; but he was not positive.

Court adjourned at 5 p.m.

Colonel Crawford has in his possession a letter signed H. T. Harris, in which the writer says he himself is the murderer of Pearl Bryan. It is believed that the writer is mentally unbalanced.

Maryland has 107,054 persons engaged in manufacture, the annual value of whose product is $171,842,593.

Bradley lives on in Ludlow. It seems to me like Green street. I lived in Fifth street, Cincinnati, with John Seward. I first saw Seward at Urbana, Ills., about Feb. 14. He was there three or four days. He talked about this Fort Thomas case. I don't know whether he was employed on the case."

Colonel Nelson—Will you look at this paper and say if you ever saw it before?

Witness—That's my father's handwriting. I did not know that my father had written to anybody about the case. The letter was then read to the jury. It was to A. S. Bryan, Greencastle, and contained an offer to Mr. Bryan to tell him of the doings of a certain detective employed by the defense. The writer said that the defense would try and prove that Mr. Bryan's daughter was killed in Ohio, and not in Kentucky. It was signed by William R. Truste.

Another letter of the same kind was read. It was addressed to Silas Rix, Greencastle, Ind. In speaking of Seward in this letter the writer said: "He can get you some good testimony. He used to be a lawyer, but was debarred for subornation of witnesses. He is used to getting all kinds of testimony, either for or against."

During the reading of these letters the witness shifted uneasily in his chair and he winced as Colonel Nelson emphasized the bad spelling. The second letter, like the first, was signed "Wm. Truste." As the end of the reading was reached it was 12 o'clock and Judge Helm said:

"Court will now adjourn."

The witness was placed under $100 bond for his future appearance.

At the afternoon session Truste was cross-examined by Colonel Nelson and in a short time had the witness so badly mixed up that he was excused, but Colonel Nelson told him to remain, as he would probably be called to testify again.

Harry Shafer, a newspaper reporter, was called for again by Attorney Crawford. He did not respond. The reporter's deposition was read. Shafer said he was in the jail when Coachman Jackson went there to identify Scott Jackson. The reporters and Walling and Jackson exchanged coats. It was 10 minutes before the coachman identified Jackson. He did not identify the dental student until someone yelled: "Jackson, take your hat off!" The prisoner obeyed and the coachman stepped forward and identified him.

Shafer told of the difficulties experienced by the party which accompanied George Jackson on the test drive to Fort Thomas. Henry Motz was secured to pilot the party over the worst part of the road. It took a long time for Jackson to locate the scene of the murder. During the night Jackson identified two spots as the place where the girl was lifted over the fence.

Dr. T. J. Waey's deposition was read. The deponent is a professor in the Ohio dental college. Jackson was present at the operative clinic on Thursday and Saturday afternoons, Jan. 30 and Feb. 1. This is supposed to contradict the testimony of Mrs. Weeks, the spiritualistic medium of Bellevue, Ky. Mrs. Weeks testified that Jackson and Pearl Bryan called on her that afternoon.

Judge Helm ruled that a schoolteacher can not testify from a rollbook as to a pupil's attendance; he must testify of his own knowledge, and the prosecution's objection to Dr. Waey's deposition was sustained.

W. T. Ayres of Greencastle, Ind., deposition that Wood's moral reputation in Greencastle was not good. Wood's reputation, he said, for truth and veracity was not good.

M. T. Cook deposed that he has known Will Wood since last September. His deposition about Wood's reputation for truth and veracity was that it was not good.

Jesse Johnson, a teacher of Greencastle, also made a deposition, which was read. The defendant has known Wood three years. He regards the young man's reputation for veracity as bad.

Before Colonel Crawford read further depositions he suggested that the ladies present should leave the room.

"Those ladies who desire may retire from the room at this time," said Judge Helm.

There was no stir, and the court said:

"All ladies are requested to leave the room."

Men filled up the seats. William J. Grooms' deposition was the first taken from the table by Attorney Crawford. The prosecution objected to a part of it, because it sought to impeach Will Wood for statements made out of court. The judge said the questions might show that some one else had motive in the case besides the prisoner, and ruled accordingly.

Grooms stated in his deposition that he is a student and a musician. Will Wood said to the deponent: "I am in tough luck." He mentioned a girl in connection.

Ed Hunt's deposition was the next which Attorney Crawford desired to read. A part of it was stricken out by Judge Helm. Hunt knew Pearl Bryan seven years and was her schoolmate five years. Will Wood on three occasions, Hunt says, told him of improper relations with Pearl Bryan.

During one conversation in Indianapolis in which Wood made his boasts, Hunt said that Scott Jackson might have been present a short time; but he was not positive.

Court adjourned at 5 p.m.

Colonel Crawford has in his possession a letter signed H. T. Harris, in which the writer says he himself is the murderer of Pearl Bryan. It is believed that the writer is mentally unbalanced.

GOVERNOR BRADLEY, by abusing his pardoning power, is doing all he can to encourage mob law.

KENTUCKY'S criminal record will not be improved until we have a Governor who will allow the law to take its course.

PARDONING criminals is not a good way to put a stop to crimes in Kentucky. Our Governors seem to lose sight of this fact.

LOUISVILLE base ball enthusiasts are terribly cast down by the miserable showing their team is making. They ought to hunt up the members of Maysville's crack 1895 club. The boys play better ball than the article the Colonels are putting up. The Maysvilles downed every league team they faced last year, defeating Cincinnati twice and Washington once.

It is surprising to hear some of the business people of Maysville talk of the advantages of patronizing our home merchants and spending as much of our money at home as possible when it is common talk on the streets that these self-same persons run to Cincinnati for nearly everything they need. The proper way to remedy such an evil is to practice what you preach. Our merchants carry a nice, full line of goods, and the prices are as low and many times lower than you could buy the same article for in the large cities.

GOVERNOR BRADLEY Monday morning issued a pardon to George W. Smith, editor of Justice, the A. P. A. paper at Louisville. Smith was convicted on the charge of libeling Collector Ben Johnson and was fined $800. Bradley is demonstrating every day that he is a member of the A. P. A.'s, and is prostituting his high office by granting such pardons. No member of this order has appealed to him in vain for a pardon. The guilt of the accused cuts no figure in the case. They are turned loose to go and commit other crimes.

Death of Charles A. Bryan.

Mr. Charles A. Bryan, who resided in Maysville a short time some years ago, died suddenly a few days since at his home in Neenah, Wisconsin. He was taken ill with a severe cold, the attack terminating in something like apoplexy and causing his death.

Deceased was a son-in-law of Mrs. Mary R. Hunt, formerly of Maysville, and leaves four children.

Mr. L. M. Mills is arranging to move into his new home on East Third street, which he has lately remodeled and handsomely improved.

CARLISLE AND SOUND MONEY.

Address Issued to Kentucky Democrats Friday Urging Presentation of Carlisle's Name at Chicago.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—The committee appointed at yesterday's conference of sound money Democrats to-night furnished the morning papers for publication to-morrow an address to the Democrats of Kentucky.

After a review of the situation the address exhorts Democrats to stand firm for sound money and Carlisle for President. It says, in part:

"Let the Democrats of Kentucky make their declarations in plain and unequivocal language. If our State is to be made the battle ground by the free silver leaders of Missouri, Colorado and Nevada, let us go forth to make and win the fight in the solemn conviction that we will in this way, and in this way only, reunite and rehabilitate our party and put it in line with the best interests of our common country.

"Knowing that John G. Carlisle is able and honest, and fully equipped to discharge the duties of the great office of President, let us present his name to the Chicago convention as the choice of the Kentucky Democrats as their candidate for President."

The address contains the following challenge to answer.

First—That there is not a free coinage country in the world to-day that is not on a free silver basis.

Second—That there is not a gold standard country in the world to-day that does not use silver as money along with gold.

Third—That there is not a silver standard country in the world to-day that uses any gold as money along with silver.

Fourth—That there is not a silver standard country in the world to-day where the laboring man receives fair pay for his day's work.

THE STATE ASSESSMENT.

Big Raises by the Equalizers, But the Total Still Less Than Last Year.

The State Board of Equalization Monday morning completed its work in fixing the equalized value of the property of the State, after having made the greatest raises above the County Assessor's books in the history of the Board.

The assessments in nearly every county have been raised, and still there will be a falling off in the revenue paid into the Treasury compared with 1895.

The assessed value of property in 1895 was $558,901,803, and in 1896, $553,740,353, making a falling off of $5,164,444.

As the board equalized in 1895, the figures were $573,206,978, and in 1896, $570,926,762; the falling off over last year is $2,280,216.

The net increase made by the Board in 1895 was $13,305,175, and in 1896 is $17,186,403, making the increase more than last year $3,881,228.

From the equalized value of $570,926,762 the State will derive a total revenue of $2,600,000.

Deal With the Home Merchant.

Exchange: "No peddler does anything to help the town. He gives nothing to schools, churches and public enterprises. He spends no money here; he pays no taxes; he has nothing in common with the home people. He can swindle you, often does swindle you, and you can't help yourself. He has no store in town to which you may return goods that are worthless. The itinerant merchant has no reputation to sustain. He can cheat you with impunity. The home merchant bears his share of the business of good government. When a subscription paper is passed he is the first approached. He spends all his money here. He builds a home which enhances the value of all property. He helped to pay for the church in which you worship and the school to which you send your children."

MAYSVILLE DIVISION, U. R. K. of P., will work in the initiatory to-night. A full attendance desired, and members are ordered to appear in full dress.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not? The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Every body admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fullness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. ## CHURCH EXTENSION.

What the South Methodists Have Done and Are Doing Along This Line of Work.

The Board of Church Extension of the M. E. Church, South, met in annual session at Louisville last week.

In the report of the Secretary, the Rev. David Morton, an improvement in collections on assessments over last year was shown.

The total receipts of the Board from all sources for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1896, were $80,357.60, an increase of $3,249.79 over last year.

Since the inception of the Board of Church Extension, in 1882, it has aided 3,313 churches in this and foreign countries. The total amount donated by the conference boards to these churches for this period is $320,984; by the General Board, $275,002. The General Board has loaned a total of $218,650 during the past fourteen years.

During the year the Board of Church Extension and its conference branches have helped 423 churches, paying them the sum of $74,233.70. This shows that seventy-five more churches have been aided, and that disbursements for this purpose have been made of $9,007.95 more than the preceding year.

There are on file at present applications for aid from 167 churches. Seven of these ask for loans, twenty-four for both loans and donations, and 136 for donations only.

During the past year special collections in behalf of churches in the Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Florida and Japan have been taken, amounting to $3,467.22. The loan fund has increased $6,898. Mr. James S. Lithgow, of Louisville, gave $5,000 toward local church extension during the year. The Board was also left by the late Moses Upshard, of New Orleans, $20,000. Neither of these amounts appears in the total collected, for the reason that the securities representing these sums have not been converted into cash.

EXCESSIVE TOLLS.

Five Indictments Reported at Flemingsburg Last Week Against Turnpike Companies.

The grand jury at Flemingsburg reported eight indictments last week.

Five of these indictments are against turnpike companies for charging and collecting excessive tolls. Three of the indictments are against the Maysville and Mt. Sterling Company and two against the Maysville and Mt. Carmel.

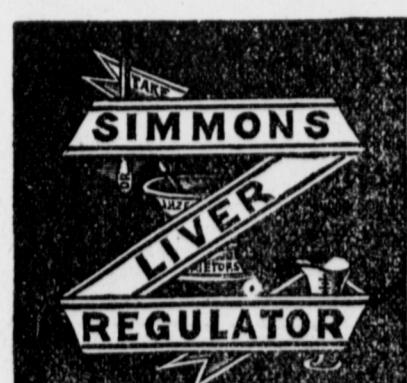

The companies claim they are charging no more tolls than their charters empower them to collect, but under a recent decision of the Court of Appeals* in a case taken up from Clark County, it is asserted that the companies must comply with the new statute regulating the rates to be collected.

The cases will probably not be tried before the next term of the Fleming Circuit Court.

SAMUEL DARNALL.

A Former Citizen of Fleming County Dies at Louisville, of Typhoid Fever.

Mr. C. W. Darnall received the sad news yesterday of the death of his cousin, Mr. Samuel Darnall, of Louisville. Deceased was taken ill six weeks ago with typhoid fever, and died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock.

Deceased was a son of Major William Darnall, of Elizaville, and was forty-eight years of age. He had charge of the principal hotel at Flemingsburg for years, and leaves many friends throughout Mason and Fleming. He was married twice, his last wife surviving him. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter. His first wife was a sister of Mrs. C. B. Pearce, Jr.

The funeral occurred at the Flemingsburg Christian Church this morning at 10 o'clock, after which the remains were interred in the Flemingsburg Cemetery.

Cure For Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache, Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headache yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Only fifty cents, at J. James Wood's drug store.

Decoyed Into Jail.

At Vanceburg Sunday James Evans, a farmer who went insane Saturday and attempted to kill his family, was decoyed into jail by Councilman Dave Smith and locked up. A desperate effort was being made to capture the insane man. He had a revolver and was hunting for three of his most intimate friends, James Cooper, John Lambert and John McLease, vowing he would kill them on sight. Smith got him into jail by making him believe it was a saloon.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE IN CUBA.

A Carolina Editor Seized by Spaniards and Threatened With Death.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Representative Linney of North Carolina yesterday received the following telegram from Cyrus B. Watson, a well known lawyer of Winston, N. C.:

"George Mathis has been caught by the Spaniards, and is under a charge, the penalty for which is death. Try to save him."

"Mr. Mathis was once the editor of the Winston Sentinel, and is an influential man in his state."

Mr. Linney does not know whether Mr. Mathis was on the Competitor as a newspaper man or as a soldier, but supposes he was on his way to Cuba to fight with the Cubans.

Mr. Linney called on Secretary Olney at once and was assured that there would be no hasty action by the Spanish authorities. The secretary is waiting for full particulars of the recent capture.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

Quite an Improvement in Trade Last Week, Especially For the Better Grades.

The Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company, in its circular for the week, has the following:

There has been quite an improvement in the tobacco trade the past week, especially for the better qualities of tobacco, and while the receipts and offerings of the new have been very light, it has pushed the old crop to the front, and it has been taken at higher prices, and most of the sellers were well pleased with the sales.

There is always a place between the two crops of tobacco, that is when the new crop is not in keeping order and the redriers cannot get their tobacco ready and farmers are busy at work, which make receipts very light, and the buyers take the old tobacco in preference, but as soon as the new tobacco is placed on the market in keeping condition they discard the old crop as far as possible for the new. That has been the reason of the advance, which usually occurs in May and June, and, while the present spring is very early, we consider the time has come when the holders of the old crop should sell, as the next few days will place the new crop in competition. Remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm."

The buyers have shown a desire to get some good old tobacco, and, with some foreign buyers in the market as competitors, they have made an active market and advanced prices, as several hogsheads sold from 20 to 24½ cents. The market improved from Tuesday until Friday, and we considered at the close of Friday's sales that it was the best day of the week, and closed very strong.

The reports from the country show that there will be plenty of plants, but they are small yet, which is favorable, as they will come to the front rapidly, and by the time growers get ready for them they will be sufficiently large for setting. The dry weather has been a detriment to prizing, and it has caused the receipts to be remarkably small for this season of the year, but with a few warm showers we can expect them to increase rapidly.

There is considerable old tobacco in the country still, and, with the large stock on hand, it would be a benefit to the holders if the receipts were small for a few days, at least, until a good share of the old could be disposed of.

The low grades of tobacco show no change in price, only those having color, which appear to be in demand, and may be quoted some higher.

We are expecting a very firm market the coming week, especially if it remains dry.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE.
very Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this most important subject."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural strains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, dependency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure the foreseen effects of excesses, overwork, worry, &c.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, written for curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.
